

ISAP's COVER CROP INCENTIVE DIRECTORY

Illinois Sustainable Ag Partnership's (ISAP) Cover Crop Incentives Directory provides an overview of cover crop incentive payment opportunities for farmers in Illinois. The directory also includes a "Stacking Matrix" so farmers can easily determine if they may be eligible to stack payments from multiple programs.

Programs that are claiming a farmer's carbon asset will be marked with an asterisk (*).

ISAP does not endorse any particular program or company. Our aim is to facilitate data sharing among our farmer networks. This information was accurate at the time of publication (October 2022), but we encourage you to contact the lead organization of any specific program for the most up-to-date information.

The Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) provides financial and technical assistance to agricultural producers to help plan and implement conservation practices on agricultural land. EQIP can also help producers meet Federal and State environmental regulations.	Statewide	Local NRCS office USDA Farm Bill	Up to 10 years	Varies by payment scenario	Link	Applications are accepted year-round. Complete an application at your local NRCS office.
The Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP) helps producers maintain and improve existing conservation systems and adopt additional conservation activities to address priority resource concerns. CSP pays for conservation performance—the higher the performance, the higher the payment. CSP provides annual payments for installing new conservation activities and maintaining existing practices; and supplemental payments for adopting a resource-conserving crop rotation. Illinois Sustainable Ag Partnership's Cover Crop Incentive Stacking Matrix

ISAP's Cover Crop Incentive "Stacking Matrix" is designed to demonstrate opportunities for farmers to stack payments from multiple incentive programs. Programs that are claiming a farmer's carbon asset will be marked with an asterisk (*).

These programs and the relationships shown on this matrix are acre-specific, meaning the same acres enrolled in EQIP on your farm are in-eligible to receive payments from other federally funded programs. However, you can enroll separate tracts on your farm in different federally funded programs and receive payments that way. For federal programs, acreage is only eligible for financial assistance if there is an unaddressed resource concern that may be mitigated by using cover crops.
